WOUNDS

- 1: +1d10 to all Risks.
- 2: Villains gain 2 bonus dice against you.
- 3: Your 9's count as 10's during Risks.
- 4: You become Helpless.

The Heroes of Altamira risked life and limb to bring you safely to the city months ago. Then they went above and beyond to protect and rescue your son from that attack of monsters sent by someone who may still be after you. Your best chance for survival lies with them but they have gone missing. These well meaning locals intend to help but bless their hearts, there isn't a brain between them. This may require some tact, rational thought or grace instead of brute force and blades. Best you see to it yourself. Equipment: You brought your field journal, a small medical kit, a book on Numan philosophy and your sample cage should you find an interesting insect or two. Eladio insisted on loaning you a small pistol loaded with a single shot. Just to be safe.
